

2013

MOSCOW,
SEPTEMBER 26-28

Dear colleagues!

Welcome to the IV International conference of higher education researchers!

The annual conference organized by Russian Association of Higher Education Researchers with the support of Higher School of Economics has recently become one of the central events of Russian academic life, and the first place for regular meetings of those who want to understand modern higher education.

Last year conference was devoted to young and successful universities which managed to obtain international recognition in less than 50 years of their existence. In 2013 we decided to look back at the universities' history, its current significance.

The topic for this year conference is "University Traditions: a Resource or a Burden?" Among participants of the conference are distinguished Russian and foreign historians of universities, theorists and practitioners of higher education.

The number of people who wish to present their research at the conference including foreign scholars increases significantly from year to year. This observed trend indicates that the network of Russian higher education researchers ready for cooperation with international community is being formed.

We are highly delighted to meet you! We believe your participation will become a significant contribution into the conference being successful and productive.

Best regards,

Programme Committee of the Conference.
